Left column begins with complete prose. It continues in stable reading order across several clear lines.

Right column follows after the left column. Its separation is wide enough to remain unambiguous.